Class Will

We, the party of the first part, being of sound minds and bodies, do hereby bequeath to the parties of the second part, being not quite so sound, the following:

To the Juniors, we leave the ability to enjoy the Prom given for us without working for it.

To the Sophomores, we leave two more years in school.

We are happy just to leave the Freshmen.

I, Barbara Frederick, will my French Horn to anyone with a "good" pair of ear plugs.

I, Verle Gardner, will my temper to anyone who can control it.

I, Dean Gilbert, will my motorcycle to Roy Faulkner, who is a professional rider.

I, Nelson Gildenmeister, will my calm temper to Bob Weller.

I, Sandra Hartley, will my love life to Lois Gottschall.

I, Gloria Lindsley, will my York Panther spirit to Frances Hansen.

I, Bob McConnell, will my Eagle eye in basketball to Howard Cotterill.

I, Bob McKenzie, will my ability to get an A in English to Janet Andrews.

I, Marcia Meacham, will my dirty loafers to Emma K. Keegan.

I, Alan Mehle, will my place in the orchestra to Mike Hayward.

I, Ed Weller, will my cool headedness and clean tongue to Jim Shaver.

I, Jeanne White, will my 'Brownie' name to anyone who can take some teasing.

This will is hereby signed, sealed, delivered, and witnessed by our two foremost advisors:

Shirley Counselman
Lois Level

Class Prophecy

As I sit in my rocker watching a travel film on television, I remember the trip from coast to coast that I took back in May of 1966. The fun began when I stopped my car to take a brief walk through a country woods. As I came upon a clearing I saw an artist painting a lovely girl, with a woodland brook as a background. I started to move on by, when the man turned and I recognized Verle Gardner. The model was his beautiful wife. He was married soon after graduation from Y. H. S.

After a chat with "Mable" I was on my way. As I pulled onto the highway, I was startled by a huge bill-board that read, "Barb's Baby Breaking Business, Inc., Barb Frederick, President." Barb had been my old classmate, so I stopped for a short visit. Barbara was sitting in a rocking chair with a baby on each knee. She had started her business after she graduated from nurses training in Toledo, Ohio.

As I rode on, the scenery grew more beautiful, on one side of the road were beautiful woods. On the other were---insect pens? I decided to investigate this curious sight, so I drove into a lane by a huge mansion. The sign on the door read, "Alan Mehle, Bug Breeder." To my amazement, I learned that it was "Old Mehle Bug" himself. I inquired and found that Alan had capitalized on his old nickname and was breeding the bugs to dispose of old pineapple cores with "No fuss--no muss--no cores!

In a hurry to make up for lost time, I excelled the speed limit to 65 mph. I saw a flash, heard the squeel of brakes, and noticed a figure on the road ahead. As I came closer, I recognized Dean Gilbert on a motorcycle. Dean told me he was celebrating--he had just started his second million. He gave up on the first million. The second is always easier to make.

Time passed as I moved along. At noon I stopped for lunch at a small roadside stand called "Wimp's Wimpies." As I reached the window, I saw the familiar face of Bob McConnell. Then I understood the name for the place. "Wimp" was doing alright for himself.

My hunger satisfied, I continued. As I neared Washington D. C., I noticed campaign posters on every pole and post. One poster particularly caught my eye. It was pasted on the side of a cow grazing near the road. On it was the picture of the great Senator McKenzie. At that time he was running for a second term.

In Washington I tarried long enough to watch an afternoon session of Congress. Who was filibustering, but Marcia Meacham, "Woman Senator Supreme." This was also her second term. Same old Marcia, always talking.

After I had visited the Capitol and was again in the country, I saw a huge sheep ranch. The name of the barn struck a note in my mind. "White's Black Sheep. I investigated and found Jeanne White, still trying to pull the wool over everyone's eyes. Jeanne told me that just next door was the Busy Baker's headquarters. She revealed that Gloria settled down, content to be her family's advisor. She always was good with the brains at York.

It was early evening as I stopped for dinner at an exclusive restaurant. I was welcomed by the lovely hostess, Sandra Hartley Rathbun. She was quite successful as a restaurateur, using the Home Ec. learned at York High.

As I came out of the restaurant after a wonderful meal and a chat with Sandy, I noticed two painters working on the exterior of the building. It was Nelson Gildenmiester and Ed Weller! The boys were still slopping it on thick and fast.

As I rock slowly, I recall that I either met or heard of all my classmates of "56." They were all very successful way back then. Thanks to dear old York. I wonder what will happen and who I will see on my next trip.

Class History

With the coming of the fall of 1952, we, the "Class of '56", found ourselves as Freshmen in the High School known as York. Presiding over the class meetings was Verle Gardner, with Dean Gilbert acting as second in command; Marcia Meacham, wielding the pad and pencil; Jeanne White was left holding the money bag, and Gloria Lindsley, conveying the requests of the class to the Student Council.

After threemonthsvacation, we returned to the classrooms as Sophomores. The elected administration for that year was Helen Schoen, banging the gavel; Sandy Hartley, ready to take over in any emergency; Marcia Meacham, still holding the pad and pencil; Jeanne White, in charge of our large money vaults and Gloria Lindsley, still our voice in the Student Council.

With the coming of our Junior year our thoughts all turned, not to spring, but ot the miraculous invention---money. In order to get this, we selected this board of experts on the subject: Bob McConnel, President; Sandy Hartley, Vice-President; Barbara Frederick, Secretary; Alan Mehle and Helen Schoen, Treasurers (there were more Treasurers than there was money); and Jeanne White and Verle Gardner, Student Council. In this year we selected our class rings, had our Junior Play (Spring Fever), sold candy, and had a Prom (a great success and cost plenty). Two girls were chosen to be on National Honor Society: Gloria Lindsley and Jeanne White (naturally).

Finally, after all the years of waiting, we answered to the title of "Seniors. Nelson Gildenmeister is looking for motions on how to make money. (Still No Money!) Jeanne White is backing him up, Barbara Frederick is writing the minutes for the last year of this class, Dean Gilbert is holding onto the check book and receipt book, and Marcia Meacham and Eddie Weller are carrying our ideas to the Student Council. In this the last year of the "Class of '56" we will do many things, namely putting on the Senior Play, getting our Senior pictures, ordering our invitations, going to the Junior and Senior Prom, the Senior trip and at last ----- Graduation. We are all pretty glad of it.

In 1936 York High School became a member of the National Honor Society. The Senior pupils are elected to membership for outstanding qualities of Scholarship, Character, Leadership, and Service.

The candidates must have a scholarship mark of rank in the upper third of their class. From this upper third, not more than fifteen per cent can be elected to membership by the High School Faculty.

It is now the custom in the county to induct 10% of the Junior Class in the National Honor Society each year. This year Roy Faulkner and Nelson Orwig were selected from the York Junior Class.
